Again, the success of the little "Classie" i due in part to its germinal character, its possessing the seeds of a large knowledge. Herein appears the skill of the composer, and herein resides vastly its educating power. And it is not an irrelevant suggestion, whether for the young might not profitably make more of the germinal principle which enters so much into the "Three-Letter Classic." The Chinese book aims at the start to impart solid knowledge. It would not merely teach letters and words, but along with them, and through them, drop into the receptive mind the seeds of history, philosophy, and religion. It was considered both uscless and barbarous. People even argued that the bombardment was being carried on merely for the purpose of using up the superfluore shot and shell prior to the Germans leaving Paris. Count Bismarck has addressed a note to the North German representatives abroad, in roply to the charged made on the part of the French Government by M. de Chandordy, against the German mode of parrying on war. Count Bismurch thinks that the despatch in which those charges were made could only have been intended for the French public, and that section of the foreign press which is opposed to Ger- On CALGUTTA. -Bank, 3 days' sight 2.8 many. The Government of the National Defence profests against the military action now being taken by the Germans, as a useless act of barbarism, and shares the sentiments of the inhabitants, who, so far from being depressed by this violence, have derived fresh strength from it. The doctors of the hospitals in Paris have signed another protest against the bombardment as a violation of the Geneva Convention. THE NEW YORK COINING CASE.

(Pall Mall Gazette.) The New York papers give an account of the capture of some of the swindling firms who ave been sending circulars offering to supply counterfeit sovereigns in large quantitles. These persons have, it appears from their books, which have been seized by the police, been making large profits—sometimes as much as £800 a day—by supplying forged notes at the rate of 100 dollars for every five dollars of cash remitted to them. Their plan was, it appears, to obtain from all parts of the country the names of the most likely dupes, and to tempt them with circulars, stating that the forgeries were such as to defy detection, that the orders for them, accompanied by a remittance, were to be addressed to the firm as if for so many hundred cigura, and that the required quantity would be forwarded, by express. In return nothing was sent but boxes of rubbish, and the victims were obliged to remain quiet or avow their own criminality. Many of the letters of persons who had thus been duped were found on the premises of the firms, and have been published, with the names in full, in the New York San. Among them is one from A. H. Price, Est., containing Seven Rooms, an agent of an express-company, offering to Store Room, Four Bath Rooms, Stabling, and aid the swindlers in their operations; another Garden: Gas and Water laid on Apply to is from a writer who states himself to be member of the Tennessee Legislature; another is from' a resident in the State of Georgia, who is confident be can pass off a great many among the negroes; another is from one of the keepers in a State prison, and another is from an "attorney and councillor-at-law" in the State of ly occupied by Mesers. MELCHERS & Co., Georgia, who describes himself as a member, situated at the junction of Graham and Wel-Congress, and consequently an "honourable." The business was carried on in the most regu-· lur manner : there was a "correspondence department," a "mailing department," Ac, and in one of the establishments at the time of scizure there were snoks containing about 10,000 letters from persons in all parts of the Union. The experiment of offering to sell counterfeit sovereigne appears to have been only lately tried. These coins, it was stated in the circulars, would be made of aluminium, and would be found precisely similar to gold in every respect, except that the aluminium, being one-twelith less in weight, they were obliged to be made a little thicker than the genuine coin. Their manufacture would, it was stated, be superintended by a person who worked in the British Mint for eighteen years, and they were offered at the price of £2 for twenty sovereigns, or, if a quantity were taken, at something less. How far the scheme succeeded in this country is not yet known; but if any dupes were found, there will now be a great probability of their names and addresses being

A HEARTLESS SWINDLE .- An advertisment recently appeared in the Manchester papers for a number of competent artisans in the building trade, for whom the advertiser promised work in New York at excellent wages. The advertiser promised to pay one-half of the passage-money (three guineas), the other half to be deposited by the intending emigrants with bim. About twenty-five men were thus engaged. after depositing the money, and as directed proceeded to Liverpool on a particular day, when they discovered that they had been ьwindled.
